

PRESQUE ISLE, ME (April 2015) – Katahdin Trust recently presented a $1,000 contribution to the American Agri-Women to assist in sponsoring their 2015 National Convention. Maine Agri-Women has been selected to be the host organization for this year’s convention that will be held November 5th - 7th in Portland, Maine. Joining in the check presentation held at Katahdin Trust in Presque Isle were (left to right): Pete St. John, Senior Vice President and Commercial Services Officer – Katahdin Trust; Carol Adams, Convention Steering Committee Member – Maine Agri-Women; Pam Townsend, President – Maine Agri-Women; and Jeffrey Pangburn, Vice President and Commercial Services Officer – Katahdin Trust. Maine Agri-Women was organized in April of 1992 in Aroostook County. A year later, they joined the national organization which is a coalition of farm, ranch, and agri-business women with 56 affiliates. The convention will be devoted to uniting all phases of agriculture which have held significant importance in financial contributions to the entire state of Maine, improving the image of agriculture, and insuring that agricultural interests are acknowledged and dealt with fairly.
